

It has been great to see so many new owners around the Resort this month, and thanks to those that called into the office, and for your kind words supporting our monthly newsletter! As quiet as it seems here in The Spanish Village, I was astounded to learn just last week that 40% of the 133 apartments here have been sold, interesting times to follow no doubt once the bank does not hold over 50% of the units available, hopefully I'll be able to report back on any major changes quite soon!

It seems as though autumn has finally arrived here at HDA, after a weekend of drizzle and grey skies and a fall in minimum night time temperatures by a whole 4 degrees to a minimum of 16 degrees centigrade. We are sat here in the office with the door wide open and wondering why we are wearing long trousers' a very pleasant 24 degrees, superb weather for a round of golf, (so I'm told) and the recent rain has certainly helped to make everything look greener. As a reminder, once the ambient temperatures fall below a constant 15 degrees centigrade, the Bermuda grass used on the golf course will become dormant and take on a distinct yellow hue, not due to lack of water I might add as I have been informed in the past, just part of the life cycle of this durable strain of grass. With golf in mind, please keep your eye on our Home Kare Facebook page and blog, where we publish any last minute deals being offered by the Golf Club, this weekend for example, Green Fee and buggy just 45 Euros per person!

As a family we enjoyed a short day trip to Aguilas at the beginning of October, having lived and worked in The Region for 18 years it's the first time that we have visited Aguilas and what a pleasant surprise, just over an hour's drive away from Hacienda del Alamo the town stands on a coastal area of about 35km, presiding over the town is the 'Castle of San Juan de Aguilas', it's possible to take a lift up to the castle and well worth it as the panoramic views are spectacular. A recent key turning point for Aguilas was in the 19th century when The British came to exploit and export silver, lead and iron from the local mines, they built the railway line and pier 'El Hornillo' which still stands today to aid the exportation of these products. Besides its wealth of archaeology and monuments, Aguilas has a coastline with numerous points of interest, 35 coves and rocky promontories that stretch into the sea, fine sandy beaches and areas of natural beauty. The coves of Playa de Calarreona, Playa la Calabardina, Playa de Calacerrada, Playa del Arroz, Playa del Hornillo, are places where the protagonist is the countryside, still untouched in places. Indeed, the town has two protected natural areas: the Regional Park of Cabo Cope and the Protected Countryside of Las Cuatro Calas. The very center of the town has beaches, such as that of Las Delicias. And nearby, opposite the breakwater of El Hornillo, lies the Isle of El Fraile, a small island covered with rocky slope sea bottoms and seaweed colonies for the special enjoyment of divers. Of course any visit should be timed to coincide with the Carnival in Aguilas, a spectacular event from 30th January 2016 through to 13th February 2016. There are many bars and restaurants dotted around the town but would recommend Somoa Restaurant that overlooks Las Delicias beach, traditional Spanish tapas with a modern twist.

WHAT to DO in Murcia in November

Murcia Gastronómica 2015 – 13th to 16th of November

Four days dedicated to pamper, taste, approach and showcasing the work of the great chefs in the Region. The Murcia Gourmet 2015, congress will start on Friday November 13 in the annex building of the Auditorium Victor Villegas de Murcia and runs until Monday 16. In all, four days devoted to pamper, taste, approach and showcasing the work of the great chefs of the region. The qualities of the "murcian cuisine" and the most innovative of the Spanish kitchen culinary trends. But this conference will also be an opportunity for sharing the values of the local gastronomy. Enjoy presentations by great chefs, tastings and workshops for adults and children, and of course Tapas Street where local reference in the region will gather. Each ticket is valid for one day (see conditions on Oferplan page). Free admission for children under 12 years.
